The Podcast:

We have decided to start homing in on our intended audience this year - and as of right now that is gamer hobbyists who want some intelligent and fun conversations about board games. This is not the advanced hobbyist who has hundreds of games or more and wants a deep dive on an individual game or only "serious" talk about board games. This is people who turn to board games, rpgs, and tabletop miniatures games for escapism and ways to have fun. We include those who are new to the hobby in this intended audience.

Our podcast remains a long format show as we explore different ways to share other content.

Highlights of past guests: Cole Wehrle (Wehrlegig/Leder), Mik & Starla Fitch (Our Family Plays Games), John O'Donnell (board games research), Carla Kopp (Weird Giraffe/Galactic Raptor).

Our Engagement Focus:

The Podcast and YouTube remain our focus at this time, with cross-platform content and distribution.
